Capital Community College Professor Presented Summer Seminar on Effective Online Teaching

Hartford, CT - This past July, Leona K. Pié, Nursing Professor at Capital Community College in Hartford, presented a seminar on Effective Online Teaching. The learning module on integrative/complementary therapies was attended by faculty from throughout the Connecticut community college system and the presentation received outstanding reviews from colleagues excited about implementing the new strategies discussed.

The presentation included directions, narrated PowerPoint, and discussion postings of two case studies. Professor Pie highlighted the pedagogical principles involved in case based learning as well as learning from peers.
